Research that Matters

Your input makes research more relevant so that treatments and services get better

Build It Together

Joining is voluntary. You decide how much you want to be involved, from designing the approach at the start through to analysing data

A Space for Everyone

Accessible Participation

Meetings and documents should be clear, and have flexible options so that everyone has a way to contribute, with training and support throughout

Respect

We learn with people, actively welcoming diverse voices and experiences

You will be told how your input made a difference and get compensation reflecting time spent and lived expertise
